LEVEL UP for Spanish

This course won't just develop your language skills it will also develop your knowledge of culture, social issues, the art scene and the political make-up of a range of Spanish speaking nations. You will take part in stimulating activities to develop your linguistic skills and Spanish grammar and you will also study Spanish culture and society, Spanish literature and film and Spanish history.

In the first year, aspects of the social context are studied, together with aspects of the artistic life of Spanish-speaking countries. In the second year further aspects of the social background are covered, this time focusing on matters associated with multiculturalism.

You will also study aspects of the political landscape including the future of political life in the Hispanic world by focusing on young people and their political engagement.

A career in Spanish

Many of our students with a Spanish A Level go on to study Spanish at university, often combining it with another subject. Joint honours degrees or language subsidiary degrees could include Global Studies with Spanish, International Relations with Spanish, History with Spanish etc.

Some students find that having two languages opens up a range of career options in a Spanish-speaking country, without the need to go to university.

Careers that are created with a language A Level or degree include:

- interpreter
- teacher
- heritage and cultural development
- international relations
- charity worker
- ...and many more

Being bi-lingual is an increasingly desired skill and Spanish is the third most spoken language in the world.
